

Are You Listening? Secrets to Listening with Intent during Virtual Meetings

How can you give more to (and get more from) virtual meetings?

In the today's world, active listening is a critical skill that receives far too little focus and even less practice! Especially now, when so much communication takes place over video conferencing, it is challenging to stay focused and really listen to one another.

Especially in a virtual context, listening needs to be active, participatory, and engaging. During this interactive, 90 minute session you'll discover practical strategies to listen more effectively in your next virtual meeting.

Learning Objectives:

- Understand what it means to be an effective active listener.
- Assess your virtual active listening skills.
- Discuss tips and techniques to boost your virtual listening skills.

Facilitator:

Gerard Murphy, Barefoot Facilitation Inc.

www.trybarefoot.com